Headline:
Early rain clearing then mostly dry and bright on Thursday.

Today:
Thursday will start cool and cloudy with any remaining overnight showers clearing eastwards into the North Sea. Some brightness developing during the afternoon, with perhaps an isolated shower through the afternoon. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Tonight:
Cloud continuing to thin with long clear spells developing, perhaps the odd mist or fog patch developing in river valleys inland where it will turn quite chilly. Minimum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Friday:
After a cool bright start to the day cloud will slowly increase through the morning, it should stay largely dry until rain moves northwards later. Much fresher than of late. Maximum temperature 17 deg C (63 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Early rain clearing on Saturday leaving a dry but fairly cloudy day. Unsettled on Sunday and Monday with thundery showers, merging at times into longer spells of heavy rain.
